

bitmap

a representation in which each item corresponds to one or more bits of information, especially the information used to control the display of a computer screen.